WHAT IS THE REMEDY?

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 20.—The dispatches from Berlin have been notably barren of surmises as to the exact thing which constitutes Professor Koch's consumption cure. The newspaper press of this country has also seemed greatly at sea on the same point, and, more curious still, American physicians, who sat in the great International Medical congress at Berlin, but recently, and listened to Professor Koch's paper on his preliminary investigations in the subject, do not seem to have recalled the hint in apparently dropped thereto. There are at least a few complete copies of that paper in this country in the French language, and one of them is in the possession of a physician of this city. In it Dr. Koch says in a very casual manner, apparently, that while he was cultivating the true bacilli of tuberculosis and watching their development, it happened that a few fowls were brought to him, and that some of them were shortly afterward found to be sick with chicken consumption. From the lungs of these he obtained the germ of the disease with which they were afflicted, and was astonished to find that it was a bacillus differing somewhat from that of true tuberculosis which he was cultivating, but in the main like it. This is, in substance, what he says, but he goes very little farther into the matter. Whoever will take that passage, however, and read it in connection with his article from the German medical journal, telegraphed from Berlin last Saturday night, will hardly be able to avoid the conclusion that just in that point lies the suggestion of what Koch's remedy is. The query, therefore, is whether Prof. Koch has not found the same kind of relation between tuberculosis in the fowls, or lower animals, and the prevention, modification or cure of tuberculosis in man, which Jenner found between knee-pox and the true small-pox.

Bradyrotine vs. Heriache, and Bradyrotine wins every time.

DEMANDS OF ILLINOIS FARMERS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 20.—The Farmers' Mutual Benefit association assembly today agreed to a resolution demanding a revision of the patent laws; the abolition of the National banking system; that the circulating medium of the government be confined to gold, silver and copper coin, and United States treasury notes; favor the loaning of money by the national government to citizens, in sums not exceeding $1,000 on property secured, at an interest not to exceed 4 per cent; favor the issue and sale at par by the government of United States bonds in denominations of $10, $20 and $100, bearing 2 per cent interest, and redeemable at the option of the holder and the government. The resolutions demand the regulation of the corporations by law.

They also favor the election of the president, vice president and United States senators by a popular vote, oppose the civil service laws and fix the tenure of office of United States judges at a period not to exceed nine years. The election of postmasters and railroad and warehouse commissioners by a popular vote is also urged. Petitions to soldiers and sailors are approved, and a revision of government officials' salaries is recommended. The resolutions conclude by making provision for the establishment of a national organization to attend the coming sessions of the legislatures throughout the country in the interests of the farmers' organizations and calling upon the representatives of the association to keep aloof from both the old parties.

NURSING THE DEAD.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Lydia T. Avery, the aged wife of Robert S. Avery, died two days ago at her home on Capitol Hill and her death was not discovered until today, although her husband was in the house with her continually. Mrs. Avery has been sick for a long time, and her feeble old man more than 50 years old, has been nursing her. Yesterday Mr. Avery called in a neighbor, Mrs. Bunnings, who told him she believed Mrs. Avery was dead. Mr. Avery would not believe it, and for another day he sat by the bedside offering food to her and waiting for her to speak to him. This morning he summoned one of the neighbors, and a doctor was called in, who said that Mrs. Avery had been dead forty-eight hours. The remains were taken tonight to Newark, Conn., which was Mrs. Avery's home before they came to Washington, thirty-seven years ago. Mr. Avery held a position in the coast survey bureau thirty-two years. He is well to do.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

DES MOINES, Col., Nov. 20.—Nothing was accomplished at today's session of the Knights of Labor. The Farmers' Alliance and all labor organizations in the country are invited to send delegates to this conference.

F. V. Powderly, Ralph Beumont and A. W. Wright were chosen delegates to attend the supreme council of the Farmers' Alliance at Ocala, Fla. A. W. Dewey, of Washington, who, during the recent political campaign in Pennsylvania, issued certain circulars reflecting upon Grand Master Powderly, was suspended from the general assembly for five years, from the order for one year, and required to come before the assembly for censure.

PACKING-HOUSE PRODUCTS. CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Through the efforts of Chairman Midegley, of the western freight association, the date on which the revised rates on hogs and packing-house products are to become effective has been changed by the interstate commerce commission from November 20 to December 22. This is the second postponement. Instead of convening a special meeting the managers can now wait until the regular December session to agree upon a basis of equalizing rates. Mean time no change will be made by any road, the Chicago and Alton having consented to wait until its competitors are ready to act.
